ABOUT

UV-Stabilized Black Trellis Twine for Vertical Crop Training in Polyhouse

Agrifirst Black Trellis Twine is a high-strength, UV-stabilized polypropylene twine designed for vertical crop trellising in polyhouse and nethouse environments. This twine supports the weight of heavy-fruited vine crops like tomato, capsicum, and cucumber throughout their entire growing season without stretching, fraying, or UV degradation.

DESCRIPTION

Agrifirst Black Trellis Twine is a professional-grade polypropylene twine engineered for supporting vine crops in polyhouse and nethouse cultivation. Each plant is tied to an individual twine hanging from overhead wires, allowing vertical growth that maximizes light exposure, air circulation, and space efficiency — the standard training method for commercial polyhouse tomato, capsicum, and cucumber production.

Key Features

- High Tensile Strength — Supports fully-laden tomato plants (10+ kg fruit per plant) without breaking
- UV Stabilized — Will not degrade under intense polyhouse conditions throughout an 8–10 month crop cycle
- Low Stretch — Minimal elongation keeps plants properly supported at consistent height
- Easy to Work With — Ties and knots easily, doesn't slip on plant stems or hooks
- Black Color — Resists UV degradation better than white/natural twine

Technical Specifications
